You can create a batch file that will run automatically daily the first time a user at a specific workstation log into EasyDent, for the day. On the workstation use the Primary Menu "Options" button. Then click the Green Edit/Create LoginAutoLaunch Batch File" button. You will need to contact Data Tec for the special password.

If the LoginAutoLaunch.bat file contains any user prompts it won't work because it's running as a hidden window. Therefore, we recommend you use this file to launch a secondary batch file, for example:

Start "C:\NetMenu\Daily.bat"
Exit
```

When anyone logs into EasyDent for the day, this will start the secondary batch file and also log when this happens. You can view the Log but using the Reports Menu, Management option. Then select "View Login Auto Launch Log" button.
